

MISSION POSSIBLE: LANDSCAPE TREE ON FAMILYSEARCH

Your mission, should you choose to accept it is to add sources to the records of your ancestors, seek out ancestors to research, and look for missing temple ordinances.

- Sign in to FamilySearch
- Click on “Family Tree”
- View your tree on “Landscape”, this should be the default view, if not select it from the icons under “TREE”
- Check to make sure you are connected to your deceased ancestors, if not ask for help from a consultant
- Look for a blue icon, “Record Hints”, expand your tree if necessary, click on the blue icon
- Click on one of the Record Hints to see details of the record, view the image if possible
- Click on “Review and Attach” to compare the information from the hint (on the left) to the information from your ancestor’s record on Family Tree (on the right)
- Click on “Add” if information from the hint is not already on your ancestor’s detail page
- Type in a reason to attach the source (think of what information this source is giving), for example: “The census record documents the family’s names, ages, and residence in 1920.”
- Click on “Attach” to add this source to your ancestor’s record
- Attach the record to any other family members mentioned using the same steps
- Click on your ancestor on the top left of the page to go to his details page
- Scroll to the bottom of the details page to view your newly created source

Bonus Treat

- Go back to “Landscape Tree” and expand it to find other icons
- Look for a purple icon and click on it to see “Research Suggestions”
- Look for a red icon and click on it to see “Data Problems”, expand the tree if necessary
- Look for a temple icon to see what temple work is in progress, needs more information, or might be available for an ancestor
